

Consulting Property Visit

Overview

Wildland Systems Consulting offers on-site consultation visits. These visits serve two purposes. The first is that it allows us to get to know your property. The second is to give you professional insight of your land and habitat.

During this visit we can discuss your wildlife goals and various aspects of the property. You can talk to us about any management practices you intend to implement, giving us an opportunity to share our thoughts on them as well as how they can be improved. If your land is valued under 1-d-1 status, we can evaluate your progress towards fulfilling the requirements. We can also discuss various wildlife signs and any potential issues that we may discover while exploring your property with you.

We understand that it may be difficult to decide exactly what is right for your property, but after surveying your land we will be able to make specific recommendations. At the conclusion of this consultation you will receive a written summary of our time on your property, and our recommendations that resulted from this visit.

- In-person evaluation of property
- 1-d-1 status requirement check
- Wildlife management suggestions
- Professional insight on future management efforts
